Notes from the Homeroom:

The sunshine and spring weather are a warm welcome after the long winter. With the start of spring, there is a lot of activity in the 400 Cluster. The softball season has begun. Some students are participating in a ping-pong tournament, some are putting the final touches on their research masterpieces while others are preparing for graduation. We have celebrated many successes and everyone should feel good about all their hard work.

In addition, many students have been saving tokens and donating them to the Lowell Humane Society. This provided an excellent opportunity for students to experience the pride that comes from helping. A lot of wonderful information was shared and the students enjoyed the learning process.

Lastly, students had the opportunity to participate or observe the varsity basketball team compete against staff. This activity further enhanced our Lighthouse family by providing the opportunity to socialize and have fun together, as well as providing further learning opportunities.
